

Sparrow Hospital Visiting Student Elective Scholarship Program

Students Underrepresented in Medicine

Purpose:

- Promote Diversity, Equity & Inclusion at Sparrow Hospital
- Sparrow Medical Education is offering scholarships up to $1000 for Medical Students in traditionally underrepresented racial/ethnic groups
- Scholarships can be utilized for travel, housing, meals, and other expenses

Overview:

Sparrow Hospital's Residency programs are committed to the support and promotion of diversity, equity and inclusion as we train the next generation of physicians. We believe that our patients are best served by a group of physicians that reflect a level of diversity like the patients in our care. This strengthens both the relationships with the communities that we serve and provides the most effective and highest quality of medical care.

In order to further promote greater diversity, equity and inclusion in the field of medicine and to enrich our applicant pool, Sparrow Hospital and the office of Graduate Medical Education is proud to offer individual $1,000 scholarships for medical students that come from traditionally underrepresented racial/ethnic groups. This scholarship may be utilized for travel, housing, meals, and other expenses related to time spent on these two to four -week electives at Sparrow Hospital. This scholarship will be provided based upon successful completion of the rotation and after submission of appropriate documentation of incurred expenses up to $1,000.

Elective Details:

Your time at Sparrow Hospital for this 2-4-week rotation will include:

- Clinical experience in your area of interest
- Participation in resident educational events
- Participation in Student focused educational sessions
- Individual mentoring from faculty and residents

Eligibility Requirements:

- Students must currently be in their 3rd year of medical school applying for 4th year electives
- Students must be in good academic standing at an LCME accredited U.S. Medical School or COCA accredited U.S. Osteopathic Medical School
- Students must be U.S. citizens or permanent residents
- Students must come from a background that is traditionally underrepresented in medicine which is defined as the following races/ethnicities:
 - o African American
 - o Hispanic
 - o Native American
 - o Pacific Islander/Native Hawaiian
- Students must reside a minimum of 60 miles from Lansing, Michigan.

Application Process:

The following are required for consideration of the Visiting Student Scholarship Application:

- Students should submit to Sparrow Hospital a visiting rotation application through VSAS with all institutional requirements completed.
- Send the following to the medicaleducation@sparrow.org with subject line “Sparrow Visiting Student Elective Scholarship Program”
 - o A Letter of Interest (no more than 400 words) in which you describe a bit about yourself, reasons behind your interest in the specialty elective, and career goals that you may have.
 - o A copy of your current CV
 - o Application

A confirmation email will be returned to inform you that your information has been received.

The deadline for the scholarship application is June 16, 2023. Scholarships will be offered for 4th year medical students rotating between July 3rd and December 17th, 2023 (see specific dates below). Applications will not be considered until VSAS has been properly submitted and your letter of interest has been received by the Sparrow Graduate Medical Education Office. Decisions on scholarship will be made by June 30th with notification provided via email.

Recipients will be selected by the Sparrow Graduate Medical Education Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Committee comprised of residents and faculty.

Available dates for the 2023-2024 academic year:

7/3/23 - 7/30/2023

7/31/23 - 8/27/2023

8/28/23 - 9/24/2023

9/25/23 - 10/22/2023

10/23/23 - 11/19/2023

11/20/23 – 12/17/23

We thank you for your interest in Sparrow Hospital and look forward to hearing from you.